

REQUEST TO HOST A CBI COURSE

Thank you for your interest in hosting a CBI course! The mission of the CBI course is “To prepare all current and future Air National Guard leaders to work together as a team to identify, address, and resolve contemporary base issues”. We believe that CBI is one of the best preventative law courses in the Air Force. We are excited you want to bring a CBI course to your home unit!

If you are interested in host a course at your unit, please provide the following information

Date of the request:

Name of requesting unit:

POC and contact of requesting unit:

Name

Phone number

E-mail address

We will be able to support a CBI course with approximately 180 or more students

We will be able to fill 90 – 100 of the seats with students from the home state

The Wing commander (or equivalent) supports this request any understands there may be cost to the requesting unit*

CBI course is in high demand and there are a number of units on the waitlist. You will be considered to host a CBI in the next FY, but if your location is not selected you may remain on the list for future consideration. We try to give priority to units in order of request, but must also consider location, need, and the last time a CBI was hosted in your area. We aim to have a course in each of the regions every FY so there is a course reasonably accessible to every airman. We will do our best to get to your unit as soon as possible.

*Costs may be incurred if host unit utilizes a commercial venue to the conduct the course
